COURSE DEVELOPMENT

The Real Aero Club de Baleares carries out this course according to the training cycle to obtain the Airplane Private Pilot Title and License with its theoretical and practical parts, lasting a period of approximately FOUR months, depending on the student's availability.

The theory classes are coordinated in advance with the instructor and can be individual or in group, depending on the availability of the student.

The theory will have a minimum duration of 120 hours, not including revisions and internal exams, distributed in the following subjects:

- Principles of Flight
- Communications
- Aircraft General Knowledge
- Performance, mass and balance
- Human Performance and Limitations
- Meteorology
- Air Law
- Operational Procedures
- General Navigation

The flying lessons are coordinated with the instructor and scheduled via our internal system.

During the Private Pilot Course of the Real Aeroclub de Baleares, FORTY-FIVE hours of flight are carried out in a Cessna C-172N.

Any excess to this flight time (normally sufficient to obtain the corresponding title) will be borne by the student pilot.

The duration of the flight exam is usually variable (between one and two hours of flight), this cost will be borne by the student (not included in the price of the course).
